Call to Order

The minutes from the July Board Meeting were approved. Dave Nissen moved to approve the minutes and Noelle Fredland seconded. The vote to approve was unanimous.

Financial Report

Scott Greenstone presented financial statements from the first two months of the current fiscal year. TRT-based revenue is exceeding expectations even with growth projected into the budget. For the two months ended August 31st, revenue overall is up 17% over budget. Net income is currently 88,000 ahead of budget.

Scott noted that the City of Bend revenue is now broken out to show separately the additional revenue resulting from the ballot measure increase. Doug LaPlaca noted that the incremental funds are being tracked separately to allow for transparency as those funds are designated for out of state marketing.

Jodie Barram inquired about the percentage variance in the Visitor Development area. Scott stated that the Visitor Development fund is related to events and that there are often timing variances in this area.

Tourism Metrics Updates

Doug presented summary documents included in the Board Packet highlighting key tourism metrics. The primary metrics used are TRT collections and gross lodging revenue. Summer 2014 is the third year in a row showing record numbers.

Doug discussed a chart showing citywide occupancy through June 2014 as compiled by RRC Associates based on information from Smith Travel Research.

Website traffic is also an important metric to measure as Visit Bend's marketing is focused on driving traffic to the site. July and August 2014 represented a 43% increase in visits over the same period last year. The website is on pace to exceed 1.6 million visits during the 2015 fiscal year.

Visit Bend's social media outlets continue to grow. The Visit Bend Facebook page now has over 100,000 followers. Other outlets such as YouTube, Twitter, and Instagram continue to grow.

2014/2015 Winter Marketing Update

The upcoming winter marketing campaign is designed to re-engineer how Visit Bend is marketing the winter season.

An overview of the plan for the winter marketing campaign was presented in the Board Packet.

The main goals and objectives are to increase shoulder season citywide lodging occupancy 3% year-over-year, shoulder season TRT collections 12% year-over-year, winter citywide lodging occupancy 4% year-over-year, and winter TRT collections 16% year-over-year.

The 2014/2015 strategy will include all of Oregon and the greater Seattle area. Advertising in targeted national publications such as SKI magazine, Mountain Magazine, and through Travel Oregon will also be included.

Additional strategies are listed in the Board Packet.

campaign focusing on the Portland, Eugene, and Seattle markets.

The winter mini-guide will also be distributed through the Pacific Northwest through targeted magazines. The Visitor Guide with winter cover will be distributed throughout the Northwest.

The Bend Ale Trail is the cornerstone of shoulder season marketing efforts. November will be promoted as "Bend Ale Trail Month."

Visit Bend will also attend winter consumer ski shows as well as the Mountain Travel Symposium.

The winter 2014/2015 creative campaign - including print, TV, and radio - was presented during the Board Meeting.

Group Sales Updates

Group Sales Updates are included in the Board Packet.

Public Comment

Jackie Haworth commented that in-flight magazines may be an effective place to advertise although they are generally very expensive spots.

Andy Goggins asked if there would actually be trophies given as prizes during Bend Ale Trail Month. Yes, there will be trophies.

James Watts asked if the breweries needed to do anything to prepare for Bend Ale Trail Month. Visit Bend will coordinate with the breweries.

Jamie Christman asked if there would be additional shoulder season - vs. winter - advertising. Shoulder season will be promoted through the Bend Ale Trial and through the Bend Cultural Tourism Fund.

Lisa Sidor commented that several visitors have commented how friendly everyone is around town.

Board Roundtable

Doug stated that a position on the Visit Bend Board of Directors will be coming open in November. He stated that anyone interested in this position should email him.

Gregg Harper stated that he like the winter campaign.

Amy Draheim is curious to see how the shoulder season will turn out.

Noelle Fredland said she is happy that the Hampton Inn is open and also stated there is one more concert left in the season.

La Dona Canevaro is impressed by the marketing campaign.

Jodie Barram stated that the City will be discussing vacation rentals starting with a presentation tomorrow night. She will also be attending the League of Oregon Cities meeting.

Alan Dietrich is looking forward to the launch of the "Drinkable Detours."

Dave Nissen pointed out that it is important to remember that 70% of the TRT collections go into important infrastructure in the City as well as police and fire. He is concerned about the noxious weed issue around the area.

Matt Williams is hoping for more winter and shoulder season events. The Pine Ridge Inn had a good summer.

Carolyn Eagan stated that the City has just created a new streets division that will address issues such as paving and weed management. There will be significant street improvements and sewer work going forward. There will be some construction work going on around the Colorado Avenue Bridge starting in the spring. They are trying to get events into the shoulder season vs. the summer.

The meeting adjourned at 9:34am. Notes By: Valerie Warren. September 16, 2014

b) Personnel Expenses:	Oct14 Personnel Expenses were under budget by -$2.1K (-4.6%). Year to date Personnel Expenses were under budget by -$12.5K (-6.7%)
c) Sales & Marketing Expenses:	Oct14 Sales & Marketing expenses were over budget by +$4.3K (+5.3%) overall primarily due to timing differences between budgeted and actual results that are expected to true up at FY15 progresses. Year to date Sales & Marketing expenses were over budget by +$16.2K (+3.6%) overall, primarily due to timing differences between budgeted and actual results that are expected to true up at FY15 progresses. Note: The Sales & Marketing Budget is static. Year to date Revenue is over budget. Excess revenue will be used for additional Sales & Marketing expenses, primarily during FY15. As such, FY 15 Sales and Marketing expenses are expected to be over budget as FY 15 progresses, to the extent that Revenue remains over budget.
d} Overhead Expenses:	Oct14 Overhead expenses were under budget by -$0.9K (-6.8%) overall, primarily due to timing differences between budgeted and actual results that are expected to true up at FY15 progresses. Year to date Overhead expenses were under budget by -$1.8K (-3.4%) overall, primarily due to timing differences between budgeted and actual results that are expected to true up at FY15 progresses.
e) Net Income (Loss):	Oct14 Net Income of $70.5K (33.5%) was over budgeted Net Income of $49.3K (26.2%) by +$21.2K (+7.3% - profitability points), primarily due to over budget City Funding Revenue. Year to Date Net Income of $353.7K (34.0%) was over budgeted Net Income of $206.6K (23.2%) by +$147.1K (+10.8% - profitability points), primarily due to over budget City Funding Revenue. It is expected that FY 2015 will end with Net Income of nearly $0, as budgeted.
2) Cash Flow & Balance Sheet Analysis	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
a) Cash Flow Summary:	In Oct14, Cash increased by +$118.4K to a month-end balance of $445.5K. Year to date, Cash Increased by +$343.1K to a month-end balance of $445.5K. The relatively high cash position at the end of Oct 2014 represents a temporary situation caused by the normal concentration of Net Income in the 1st Quarter of the Visit Bend fiscal year, compounded by favorable City Funding Revenue variances, as well as the accummulation of undisbursed grants to be made by the Bend Cultural Tourism Fund late in the fiscal year. There will be a spend down of this excess cash during the next 3 quarters and thus cash position is projected to end FY 2015 at a comparable amount to the end of FY 2014.
b) Balance Sheet:	The Balance Sheet remained very healthy as of Sep14, in terms of both "liquidity" (Current Ratio of 4.4) and "leverage" (Debt to Equity Ratio of 0.3). Visit Bend has excellent financial systems and discipline, so GFR fully expects Visit Bend to remain a financially stable organization in FY 2015 and beyond, since it will operate the organization well within its financial means and will be proactive in making necessary course corrections on discretionary spending in response to fluctuations in its revenue, in relation to Budget.

Visit Bend Tourism Metrics

last updated: November 17, 2014

Visit Bend uses a variety of metrics to measure the ebbs and flows of Bend's tourism industry. The data below reflects a summary of the primary and tertiary metrics Visit Bend uses to approximate the state of Bend's tourism industry.

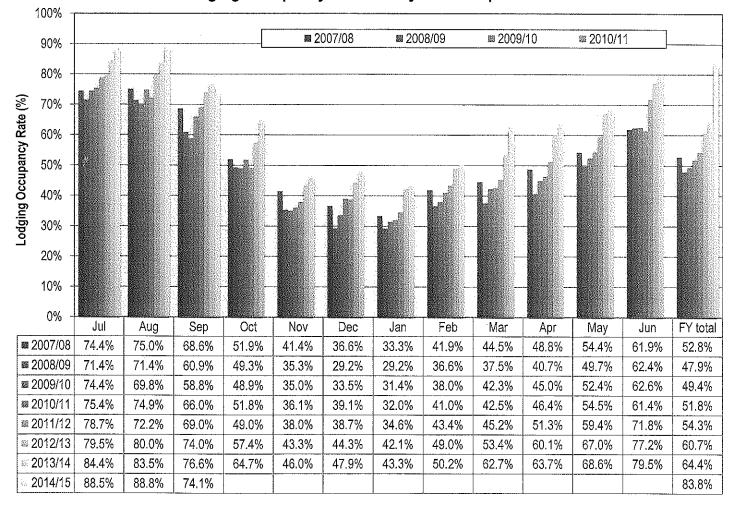

Additional tourism metrics are posted online monthly at www.visitbend.com/research.

Transient Room Tax Collections & Citywide Gross Lodging Revenue

- For the month of September, Bend's TRT collections equaled $526,164. This is a +13.8% increase over September 2013.
- Since the year-over-year TRT comparison does not factor the 1% TRT rate increase that went into effect June 1st, citywide gross lodging revenue and citywide lodging occupancy provide a more accurate approximation of the year-over-year change in Bend's tourism industry.
  - o For the month of September, Bend's gross lodging revenue grew 2.3% year-over-year.
  - September lodging occupancy decreased 2.5 percentage points year-over-year (see below)
- By all metrics, Q1 of FY2015 was a record quarter for Bend's tourism industry. However, September was the first month since December of 2011 that Bend posted a YOY decrease in citywide lodging occupancy (STR).

MARKETING UPDATES: NOVEMBER 2014

WINTER ADVERTSING CAMPAIGN

- The 2014/15 winter advertising campaign for Visit Bend will not only be Visit Bend's largest winter campaign, but Visit Bend's overall largest advertising campaign.
  - o Television: Over 10,000 commercials will be aired across the entire state of Oregon, and the entire Seattle DMA, reaching both cable customers through a strategic buy with Comcast, and multiple buys with broadcast network partners including KGW and KPTV in Portland, and KOMO in Seattle. Buys are being put in place to maximize reach and frequency to Visit Bend's target demographics.
    - Utilizing new technologies, Visit Bend's television commercials will now have a complete statewide reach through geo-targeted preroll on a new ad server, supplemented by Youtube TruView ads with the goal of bridging the digital gap
  - Radio: Visit Bend will have nearly 8,000 radio commercials delivered to listeners statewide in Oregon, throughout the greater Seattle DMA, and around the world through added-value streaming sponsorships.
    - By partnering with multiple stations which index high with key demographics aligned with Visit Bend's targeted demographics, we are able to reach who we want, when we want, with the creative that will best resonate with the listeners.
    - Through a strategic buy, Visit Bend will be the sole sponsor or traffic and weather updates throughout the Seattle and Portland DMA, reaching hundreds of thousands within a captive setting.
    - Nearly 10 Million impressions when all is said and done.
    - Campaign was supplemented by on-air giveaways, text-to-win promotions, social media contests, and online streaming and banner ads, and for the first time on radio, targeted pre-roll video.

o Print:

- The Winter Mini Guide has been inserted (and distributed) in the early winter editions of Mountain Magazine and 1859 Magazine, the December issue of Portland Monthly, and will be inserted in to the January issue of Seattle Met. All inserts are accompanied by a two-page spread or full page ad. This piece has also been digitized to live on Visitbend.com
- All Visit Bend printed collateral pieces are being distributed in welcome centers and corporate lunchrooms all over the PNW.

Visit Bend takes a "tradigital" approach to all aspects of its media buys. From TV to radio and print, digital comprises a large part of every buy. Examples included pre-roll video (TV), internet streaming (radio), and embedded guides and interactive websites tied to our print pieces.

Public Relations Updates: November 18, 2014

Press coverage from recent months

- The in-flight magazine for Alaska Airlines featured Bend in a recent article highlighting arts and culture around Oregon, calling out the High Desert Museum and Art in Public places. Arts and culture has been a big push for us in 2014, so we're happy to see tangible results on that front.
- We're already seeing a lot of great buzz about the whitewater park slated to open next spring. The Seattle Times just did a terrific in-depth article about it.
- USA Today released a piece last month on the nation's top beer towns, and of course, Bend and the Bend Ale trail were included.
- Northwest Travel magazine featured Newberry National Volcanic Monument in their October issue, which is another landmark we've been pitching lately with the area celebrating 25 years as a national monument in 2015. We recently created several pages on our website for Newberry, and did a two-part blog series on what to do there.
- Outside magazine featured the Bend Ale Trail (spotlighting Boneyard and Deschutes) in their piece on the best ski town brewpubs
- The San Jose Mercury News had a nice piece on golf destinations non-golfers can appreciate, too.
- Bike magazine had a piece in October spotlighting not only Bend's mountain biking scene, but the Bend Ale Trail.
- Lest we forget our local media, the Bulletin ran a great piece in October on mountain biking in Bend. The story went out on the wire, and got picked up by more than a dozen publications ranging from the Durango Herald to the San Francisco Chronicle.
- Northwest Travel just released their December issue featuring "spectacular ski loop vacations." There's a great write-up on Mt. Bachelor, including their kids ski free program.

Media pitches, upcoming coverage, and other PR initiatives

- Livability.com has a piece coming out in December featuring the nation's best beer cities, and Bend will be included.
- We've been working with freelancer Dave Seminara for a piece he's pitching to the New York Times on why people should visit Bend in 2015. The Bend Ale Trail is a big emphasis there. We hope to know more in the next month or two.

- We entertained a journalist from AAA's Home and Away magazine a couple months ago for a piece she's writing on Bend vacations. They have a readership of 1.3 million households, and she reported back after her trip that she had an amazing time.
- We recently hosted Jennie Skoy (AOL/Mapquest) writing a piece about hopping off the Pacific Crest Trail for a few days of pampering and fun in Bend. This piece will be timed with the release of the movie Wild in December.
- Other journalists we've entertained recently include Jill Adler (SnoCountry, Ski Press, Skiing magazine) and Johnathon Allen (Adventure Journal, Bicycling).
- We sent out press releases on Bend Ale Trail Month, our call for board applications, and the appointment of Valerie Warren as president of ODMO.
   We're getting ready to release one regarding registration for the 2015 Oregon Senior Games.
- Facebook continues to be one of the biggest tools in our PR arsenal. Here are some examples of posts from the last couple months that capture the imagery, strategy, and messaging of our recent Facebook efforts:
  - This shot we shared less than an hour after the first snowfall of the season reached more than 50,000 people and had tremendous engagement. It was a very deliberate image choice to signal our shift from warm-weather marketing (paddleboarding, sunset lake shots, etc.) to winter marketing, and it successfully set the stage by getting our page fans pumped up for winter recreation.
  - Last week's winter storm also provided a wealth of compelling imagery to share on our page, and it helps to have a talented in-house photographer (Nate) out there capturing shots for us every day. One strategy we've employed a lot lately is sharing multiple images in the same post to prompt page fans to scroll through them (thereby spiking our engagement).
  - In a similar vein, here's another shot Nate captured last week that gave us the "in-the-moment" vibe we always strive to capture on Facebook. We had this up on our page within minutes of Nate capturing the shot, and it supports the themes in our winter marketing campaign about getting outside in the winter months. Note the use of a question at the end of our copy block—another popular strategy for boosting engagement.
  - Giveaways are another key part of boosting our engagement and reach. We teamed up with Brasada Ranch to give away a two-night stay after they were named the #1 resort in the Pacific NW by Conde Nast Traveler. We prompted page fans to share why they deserved a getaway, and the result was a tremendous outpouring of sweet stories and strangers connecting and commenting on each other's triumphs and tragedies.
  - While "sharing" a post (using Facebook's share function) tends not to generate the highest number of likes/shares, we still try to include several shares a week within our Facebook lineup. This post we shared a few days ago from Mt. Bachelor performed very well for a shared post.
  - Black and white imagery is another thing we've seen performing well recently. Historically, these types of images didn't create a great deal of engagement, but there's been a shift in recent weeks (possibly due to the trending "black & white challenge," possibly due to the fact that winter images lend themselves well to this format). This was a terrific shot by Pete Alport, and we tagged Mt. Bachelor to boost our reach with the post.
  - Of course, brightly-colored sunsets continue to be among of the most popular types of images we post. Here's a great pair of shots from local photographer Jeff Bryant (again, employing the use of more than one photo to boost engagement). This post had our highest engagement in the last three months, with more than 62,000 people viewing it.
